Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including: pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

In recent decades, the worldwide prevalence of obesity nearly tripled, while 13% of the world's adult population was categorized as obese in 2016. With over 200,000 bariatric surgeries performed annually, this has become the mainstay of treatment for morbid obesity due to its ability to achieve significant weight loss and its demonstrated efficacy in improving obesity-related comorbidities. Understanding changes in response to anticoagulant therapy after bariatric surgery is crucial due to the elevated thrombotic risk in this patient population. However, little is known about the safety and efficacy of direct oral anticoagulants (DOACs) after bariatric surgery in comparison to the traditional option of warfarin.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the potential effects of bariatric surgery on drug pharmacotherapy measures due to altered gastrointestinal anatomy
2. Review literature pertaining to warfarin use after bariatric surgery
3. Discuss safety and efficacy of direct-acting oral anticoagulants (DOACs) following bariatric surgery
