Overcoming the COV-BARRIER: The Role of Baricitinib in SARS-CoV-2

Session Date: 12/14/2021

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Since December of 2019, coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), has presented a global challenge, particularly considering the absence of definitive treatment among critically ill patients with severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2. While the management of these patients primarily focuses on the provision of supportive care, low-dose systemic corticosteroids, antivirals, and immunomodulators have been encouraged as therapeutic adjuncts. In July of 2021, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration broadened the emergency use authorization (EUA) for Baricitinib for the treatment of COVID-19 in hospitalized pediatric and adult patients. This presentation will explore the clinical data justifying this EUA and identify the role of Baricitinib in treating COVID-19.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Identify the rationale for immunodulatory therapy in COVID-19
2. Explore clinical trial data regarding the use of Baricitinib in hospitalized patients with COVID-19
3. Define the patient context where Baricitinib use is most appropriate
