

Chaveso “Chevy” Cook, Ph.D., is an active duty Lieutenant Colonel in the Army. A West Point graduate who has taught in the Department of Behavioral Sciences and Leadership at his alma mater, the majority of his other military experiences are in the special operations community. He is also the co-founder and Executive Director of the nonprofit MilitaryMentors.org, which engages in elevating, educating, and facilitating mentoring for the military and beyond.