

94th Annual Clinical Reviews – Online

Activity Description

The 94th Annual Clinical Reviews seeks to update primary care providers on the latest recommendations involving medical subspecialties. The course provides a comprehensive program of lectures on topics of general interest in medicine, surgery, and pediatrics relevant to clinical practice.

Target Audience

This course is designed for physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, and nurses practicing in primary care, family medicine, and internal medicine.

Learning Objectives

Upon conclusion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Describe the interventions that are most likely to prevent vascular disease.
- Describe the appropriate immunizations administered to children and adults for protection against preventable, infectious diseases.
- Formulate a management approach for a patient with asthma.
- Formulate a cost-effective approach for evaluation of anemia.

Participation in this Mayo Clinic online course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.
