GENERAL INFORMATION

Course Description

Success With Failure: Strategies for the Evaluation and Treatment of Heart Failure will feature up-to-date presentations on the evaluation and treatment of heart failure. New diagnostic tools, drugs, and devices will be reviewed along with their role in specific clinical situations. Integration of guidelines and clinical management will be highlighted. The program format includes interactive case-based discussions, surgical and medical perspectives to ensure a lively and relevant educational opportunity for all participants.

MOC

A special session will be held August 9 for the Advanced Heart Failure and Transplant Cardiology Knowledge module. The content will enhance the competence and clinical judgement in the areas in which heart failure providers should demonstrate a high level of competence. If you are certified in a specialty and enrolled in ABIM's MOC program, you are required to earn a combined 100 points in medical knowledge and practice improvement during your 10 year certificate period. Heart Failure Society of America's self-assessment module in Advanced Heart Failure and Transplant Cardiology is designed to help you with this process by providing 10 points in medical knowledge.

Course Learning Objectives

Upon conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

- Identify relevant features of national heart failure guidelines
- Analyze new treatments for heart failure including devices
- Characterize the timing and expected outcome for surgical interventions in heart failure patients including those with ischemic heart disease and valvular heart disease

Attendance at this Mayo course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.

Intended Audience

Success With Heart Failure is appropriate for cardiologists, primary care providers, mid-level providers, and nurses providing care for patients with heart failure.

Credit

Mayo Clinic College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
