

Shannon Laughlin-Tommaso, MD MPH

Dr. Shannon Laughlin-Tommaso is an Associate Professor and Consultant in the Department of OB/GYN at Mayo Clinic, where she chairs the Division of Gynecology. She is the Associate Dean for Education Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in the Mayo Clinic College of Medicine and Science where she is leading efforts to create a longitudinal curriculum in diversity, inclusion, equity, and anti-racism. The curriculum reaches the medical school, graduate school, graduate medical education programs, and the school of health sciences to standardize education and offer development opportunities for our future professionals. She previously was the OB/GYN Department Diversity Leader where she led a 25-person committee that advocated for inclusion and equity in patient care, education, and professional relationships. Her clinical specialty is in Minimally Invasive Gynecologic Surgery and she specializes in treatment options for uterine fibroids and abnormal uterine bleeding.