Thank you for your support of Mayo Clinic Continuous Medical Education by registering for the upcoming 21st Annual Endocrine Update course to take place February 26-March 2, 2018 in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

We are deeply saddened by the extensive damage Hurricane Maria has caused the island. We are in close contact with the Caribe Hilton and are monitoring and analyzing the progress of recovery in Puerto Rico and its potential impact. We are sorry for any confusion receiving a brochure in the mail at this time might have caused. Courses of this nature are planned years in advance, and the brochure in this case was en route before the hurricane hit the island and could not be stopped.

We will continue to provide updates on the website. We anticipate having more information within the next couple of weeks.

Be assured that we will keep you informed regarding any developments that would impact the course and your travel plans.
