

Convalescent Plasma COVID-19 -- Livestreaming
Saturday, August 1st, 2020
8:00 am to 1:00 pm (CST)

| Program Schedule |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 8:00 a.m.        | Welcome &amp; IntroductionR. Scott Wright, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Minnesota                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 8:10 a.m.        | History of Convalescent PlasmaArturo Casadevall, M.D., Ph.D., Johns Hopkins                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 8:30 a.m.        | Thoughts on the Design and Background of EAP from the US FDAPeter Marks, M.D., Ph.D., Food and Drug Administration                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 8:50 a.m.        | Update on EAP – Safety Data and EnrollmentMichael J. Joyner, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Minnesota                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 9:10 a.m.        | Panel DiscussionArturo Casadevall, M.D., Ph.D., Peter Marks, M.D., Rickey Carter, Ph.D. and Liise-anne Pirofski, M.D.Moderators: R. Scott Wright, M.D. & C. Scott Collins, M.D.                                                                                                              |
| 9:30 a.m.        | Break                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 10:00 a.m.       | Organization of the Team and Data, How it was DoneJonathon (Jack) Senefeld, Ph.D., Mayo Clinic, MinnesotaKatelyn A. Bruno, Ph.D., Mayo Clinic, Florida                                                                                                                                |
| 10:15 a.m.       | Blood Bank/Donor RecruitmentCamille van Buskirk, M.D., Mayo Clinic, MinnesotaKathryn F. Larson, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Minnesota                                                                                                                                                          |
| 10:35 a.m.       | OutcomesRickey E. Carter, Ph.D., Mayo Clinic, FloridaDeLisa Fairweather, Ph.D., Mayo Clinic Florida                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 10:55 a.m.       | International PerspectiveHiba Saud AlHumaidan, M.D., Sheikh Khalifa Medical City, Abu Dhabi, UAE                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 11:15 a.m.       | The Landscape of Apps and AI's for COVID TrackingSuraj Kapa, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Minnesota                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 11:25 a.m.       | Panel DiscussionJonathon (Jack) Senefeld, Ph.D., Katelyn A. Bruno, Ph.D., Camille van Buskirk, M.D., Kathryn F. Larson, M.D., Rickey E. Carter, Ph.D., DeLisa Fairweather, Ph.D., Hiba Saud AlHumaidan, M.D., and Suraj Kapa, M.D.Moderators: R. Scott Wright, M.D. & C. Scott Collins, M.D. |
| 11:45 a.m.       | Concluding RemarksR. Scott Wright, M.D., Mayo Clinic, Minnesota                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 11:55 a.m.       | Break                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 12:00 p.m.       | Poster &amp; Case SessionModerated by DeLisa Fairweather, Ph.D. &amp; Kathryn F. Larson, M.D.                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 1:00 p.m.        | Livestream Concludes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |