

Transforming Community and Rural Healthcare 2025 Online Course

Activity Description

Mayo Clinic Health System's Transforming Community and Rural Healthcare is now offered as an engaging online course, expanding access to its impactful content beyond the traditional two-day live course. The course focuses on critical issues affecting community and rural populations. Through a series of virtual modules, participants can explore innovative strategies and collaborative approaches to apply transformative solutions in their own settings. This online format allows participants to learn from expert insights, supporting meaningful improvements in community and rural health outcomes.

Target Audience

This course is designed for allied health professionals, healthcare executives, primary care providers, nurse practitioners, nurses, physicians, physician assistants, professors, residents, students as well as community health partners, university faculty, and nonprofit and government employees.

Learning Objectives

Upon conclusion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Recognize transformative approaches to address key healthcare challenges facing rural America
- Identify collaborative strategies and partnerships to sustain the workforce and improve health outcomes in rural communities
- Assess innovative approaches to enhance rural health equity, cancer care, and behavioral health

Attendance at this Mayo Clinic course does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught in this course.
