

Spring 2023
New York, NY
getcere.com || IG: @getcere

We're excited to invite you to be part of our Cerē Certified Providers Program! This exclusive early-access wholesale initiative helps us advance our mission of educating people and normalizing the conversation about the importance of sexual health.

To start, please contact us at support@getcere.com with your desired order. With a wholesale order, you will receive a case of premium tools (at a 40% discount) to sell in your office. This is a great way for your patients to purchase science-backed, physician-developed tools in an environment in which they feel comfortable.

Cerē is the first sexual health company founded by a physician and board-certified OB/GYN. I created Cerē to help eradicate sexual shame, and to celebrate a woman's right to pleasure. The tools are designed by myself and Dr. Kimberly Lovie, a Harvard and Yale-trained chemist, engineer, and sonographer.

The brand's expanding suite of tools is tailored to anatomy, through in-depth research and testing. Cerē's Enchantment Gel is the only arousal gel proven to increase blood flow by looking at the clitoris with ultrasound (Cerē's own Clitogram™ technique).

Our research was published in Sexologies, the official medical journal of the European Federation of Sexology. We are the first sexual tool company to publish its clitoral ultrasound studies in a peer-reviewed medical journal, and to present at a medical conference (SMSNA/ISSM Annual Fall Scientific Meeting, 2022).

With our growing collection of tools and vibrators offering an elevated experience, we also advance our global mission by donating a portion of proceeds to organizations seeking to improve sexual health, including by helping victims of female genital mutilation (FGM).

We look forward to you joining the Cerē family!

Warm regards,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Dr. Marashi". The signature is fluid and cursive.

Amir Marashi, MD, FACS, FACOG