From Misfolded to Managed: The Acoramidis Approach

Session Date: 02/04/2025

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

The 2023 American College of Cardiology recommends tafamidis to be used as a first line treatment option for management of cardiac amyloidosis. Alternative therapies should be further individualized based on other comorbidities. Recent studies suggest acoramidis for Transthyretin amyloid cardiomyopathy with better outcomes. This presentation will review literature comparing tafamadis and acoramidis for the management of cardiac amyloidosis while discussing the optimal selection of a pharmacotherapy regimen given individual patient characteristics.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the pathophysiology and epidemiology of cardiac amyloidosis
2. Recognize appropriate treatments for cardiomyopathy amyloidosis
3. Review clinical evidence for the new FDA approved drug and its impact on patient care
