Blinatumomab in Pediatric ALL: A BiTE of the Future

Session Date: 05/06/2025

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Blinatumomab, a bispecific antibody that targets CD19 on B-lineage cells and redirects T cells to induce lysis, has shown promise in improving outcomes for children with relapsed B-cell acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL). Over the years cure rates for ALL have improved. Clinical trials have demonstrated that adding blinatumomab to chemotherapy in adults with newly diagnosed ALL improved survival outcomes. However, the potential benefit of blinatumomab for children with newly diagnosed B-cell ALL remains uncertain, prompting further investigation into its efficacy in this population.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the basic pathophysiology, classification, and treatment principles of acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL).
2. Summarize the mechanism of action, indications, and clinical role of blinatumomab in the treatment of ALL.
3. Recognize recent clinical data on blinatumomab in ALL and its impact on treatment strategies.
