Changing of the Graft: New Directions in First-Line MCL Management

Session Date: 08/19/2025

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Mantle cell lymphoma is a rare type of Non-Hodgkins lymphoma involving the rapid replication of naïve B-cells and is currently considered incurable. Historically, this type of cancer has been treated with autologous stem cell transplant for younger, fit patients and traditional cytotoxic chemotherapy plus rituximab to achieve longer survival. However, recent data has challenged this practice. Oral Bruton tyrosine kinase inhibitors were first approved for mantle cell lymphoma in 2013 with ibrutinib, later followed by acalabrutinib and zanubrutinib. Although originally approved for second-line therapy, recent clinical trials have used them for first-line treatment. Guidance is limited on when to use these agents prior to traditional regimens, and this activity will explore how initial therapy considerations have shifted in mantle cell lymphoma.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Summarize current first-line therapy options for mantle cell lymphoma
2. Discuss recent literature for initial mantle cell lymphoma treatment
3. Apply patient-specific factors guiding first-line therapy selection in mantle cell lymphoma
