From Craving to Control: Pharmacological Approaches to Treating Alcohol and Opioid Dependence

Session Date: 02/10/2026

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Alcohol use disorder (AUD) and opioid use disorder (OUD) pose significant health risks, adversely affect communities, and frequently coexist with mental health conditions. Both disorders can strain personal relationships, impair academic and occupational functioning, and contribute to substantial financial stress. In addition, AUD and OUD place a considerable burden on healthcare systems and emergency services. This presentation will focus on the pharmacologic treatment options for alcohol and opioid use disorders, including an overview of relevant pathophysiology and key medication classes. Evidence-based management strategies and clinical pearls will be reviewed to support optimal care for individuals with AUD and OUD.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Identify the guideline recommendations pharmacological treatment options for alcohol use disorder (AUD) and opioid use disorder (OUD).
2. Discuss the role of inpatient phenobarbital initiation in the management of alcohol withdrawal syndrome (AWS).
3. Discuss buprenorphine extended-release injection initiation for OUD.
