This conference offers a comprehensive review on new diagnostic and therapeutic applications in contemporary cardiology. The didactic sessions will focus on the pearls of care followed by clinical application of new diagnostic and management information.

The primary goal is to improve the care of patients with cardiovascular disease by providing a dynamic interactive education experience of clinical practitioners. The program will provide timely data from the latest clinical trials, updates on state-of-the-art techniques, and convey extensive "street smart" information through lectures, case presentations, and interactive discussions.
